Their expertise spans both residential and commercial sectors, tackling everything from retail fit-outs, new builds, and renovations to heritage restorations and high-end residential developments. Meca Projects partners with builders, construction firms, property managers, and developers, offering a tailored approach to each unique project. Their services also include carpentry labour hire, ensuring clients have access to experienced professionals on a flexible basis.

The Project

Meca Projects recently undertook the installation of four 100.TP Personal Access Doors as part of a commercial office fit-out. These doors were chosen specifically for their efficiency in installation and their suitability for tilt panel openings. The pre-hung design, combined with pre-cut lock provisions, made the 100.TP doors an ideal choice for the project.

Why Larnec?

The decision to use Larnec's 100.TP doors was based on their practical design and ease of installation. The doors were engineered to seamlessly fit tilt panel openings, saving valuable time on-site. The pre-installed components further reduced labour requirements, enabling Meca Projects to deliver the fit-out efficiently and to the highest standard.
